For the kindergartner suspended from school for bringing a Lego plastic toy gun the size of a quarter into the school bus.	For the Alabama parent concerned that her children are not being taught about the Constitution in school.	For the Florida resident who wants to fight REAL ID laws being enacted in his state , starting with a challenge to his local DMV.	For the Georgia inmate prohibited from attending Mass and participating in Communion .	For the Christian man ordered by police to hide his cross at a festival because the cross could be considered a dangerous weapon.	Praise: That school officials agreed to rescind the suspension of a 10-year-old boy who shot an "imaginary" arrow , after TRI attorneys intervened.	For Harold Hodge and the other political activists attempting to end a ban on expressive activity outside the Supreme Court .
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
For the Kentucky city councilman who wants to lead a prayer at the beginning of town hall meetings and mention Jesus Christ.	For the peaceful protester arrested for silently holding an anti-police sign in front of the U.S. Supreme Court.	Praise: That John Whitehead's new book, A Government of Wolves was awarded the Gold Medal by the Independent Book Publishers Assn.	For the substitute teacher who was dismissed after speaking to students about a piece of artwork depicting the Creation .	For the police chief who was dismissed from his job after objecting to students in the manner in which TSA agents were treating passengers .	That the U.S. Supreme Court will be receptive to TRI's arguments in favor of religious and political freedom in the Hobby Lobby case.	Praise: That Pennsylvania school officials agreed to allow a Good News Bible club to distribute flyers to students, the same as other clubs.
For the Florida widow threatened with eviction and fines for attempting to live "off the grid," without relying on the city for her electric and water.	For the Chicago elem. school teacher suspended for demonstrating use of household tools as part of the curriculum.	For TRI attorneys as they challenge the government's domestic spying program .	For TRI attorneys as they challenge a court ruling declaring it unsafe for California students to wear American flag t-shirts to school on Cinco de Mayo.	For the Phoenix homeowner forced to serve 60 days in jail for holding Bible studies for friends and family in his own home.	For TRI in its efforts to challenge the government's expansive surveillance activities directed at innocent Americans.	That the NJ Supreme Court will grant TRI's request and declare the state "hate crime" law unconstitutional , especially when driven by political correctness.
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
For the Illinois student who was suspended from school after using his fingers to mimic shooting an imaginary gun .	For the Virginia property owner who is being prohibited from allowing friends to camp on his farm without a permit.	That the U.S. Supreme Court will be receptive to TRI's arguments in favor of those who engage in expressive activities outside abortion clinics.	For TRI as it challenges the Obama Administration's Common Core standards in the schools.	For TRI in its efforts to challenge the government's expansive American Community Survey as an unreasonable invasion of privacy.	For TRI attorneys as they challenge the wrongful arrest and detention of a Marine who used his Facebook page to criticize the government.	For veterans' rights advocate John Miska, who was unfairly targeted by VA officials for his vocal advocacy.
